

ROSS KERSHEY BIO

Ross Kershey graduated from Temple University. He taught at Coatesville High School for 42 years and coached basketball for 28 years as well as track and field for 18 years.

Ross was the first teacher to receive the Educator of the Year Award. When he retired, the school named the award as well as the school's gymnasium for him. He then taught at Widener University for 12 years. He now teaches at Immaculata University.